Comment 1

Well-written steps. Three suggestions for improvements:

1. Be careful with spelling! "massage" is a very different word than "message."
2. A snapshot of the page with the error message would be helpful.
3. Copy/pasting the URL of the page with the error message would be helpful, as the construction of it is probably the problem causing the bad behavior.

I'm passing this one on to the Web Team.

www.deanza.edu/twrt/ is an old directory that should have been removed. It has now been deleted.

Comment 1

Iryna: There are several issues here:

--I cannot reproduce a problem using your instructions.
 --I think you have the contents of your EXPECTED RESULT and ACTUAL RESULT erroneously swapped.
 --The message displayed in your attachment indicates that the data was saved, so why do you say this--"Data are not saved and displayed some message?" The message is a good and appropriate one as far as I can tell.
 --If you're really seeing that the data is NOT saved, you need more steps to indicate how you're seeing that.

Comment 2

The problem which I want to show is that all fields expect field "City" and "State/Prov" are not sensitive and receive any data, such as "1234" in "Surname", "1234" in "Address" fields and finally save them.
 For my opinion this is wrong.
